—The Misses Parker, after a visit of several days with Corvallis friends, returned to their home at Albany yesterday.

—P. J. Walton and family now occupy their new residence below the sawmill, which has just been completed.

—We have positive proof that a certain boy in Corvallis is the smartest boy of his age in the world: his mother told us so.

—After a month's visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Wellsher, Mrs. E. C. Cummings left Monday for her home in Portland.

—Miss Daisy Woods, who has been in Corvallis visiting relatives, left Monday for her home in Portland. She was accompanied by her sister, Miss Lola Woods.

—Dr. Withcombe acted as judge Friday evening at Eugene in a debate between Eugene and Salem high school teams.

—There is to be an Easter service at Simpson chapel next Sunday. The announcement that there was to be a basket dinner is an error.

—Rehearsals for the Belshazzar cantata, to be produced at the opera house in the near future, are going on nightly, about 60 people are to take part and the affair will be quite elaborate.

—Salem Journal: Gordon Moores of the U. of O., and Merrill Moores, of O. A. C., are spending their Easter vacation with their parents, Hon. and Mrs. C. B. Moores, of this city.

—After a nine months' visit at the home of her uncle, J. H. Harris, Miss Cloy Buchanan leaves today for San Francisco. After a month's visit with relatives in that city, Miss Buchanan will proceed to her home in Mississippi.

—Edith M. Howard has filed a suit for divorce from Victor Howard. The complaint sets forth that the couple were married March, 1904, in Linn county, and three months later the husband was sentenced to the penitentiary for horse-stealing. The plaintiff asks for divorce and her maiden name, Edith Maud Gats.

—Enterprising citizens of Union are fattening a hog for the Lewis and Clark Fair. It weighs at the present time 1150 pounds, just 27 pounds more than the prize hog at St. Louis. It is wheat fed, the Eastern people doubting whether a hog can be fattened on anything except corn, and this demonstration is being made for their benefit.

—Last Saturday evening the Endeavorers of the Evangelical church tendered a birthday surprise to Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Schriber. The guests numbered 38. After a programme, refreshments consisting of pop-corn balls, candy and doughnuts, "like mother used to make," were served. Mr. and Mrs. Schriber were the recipients of a number of silver presents.

—An auction sale of horses held in town Saturday resulted in the sale of one cow, and a town cow at that. She was purchased by F. L. Miller at $20, and is to go to his farm. The bovine was owned by Mr. Johnson, Mr. Miller's second-door neighbor. The horses were offered for sale and the barn was full of buyers but the latter got the idea that there was by-bidding and the whole thing was off. One of the horses sold subsequently at private sale for $70.

Paul Jones' Body

thorize a public funeral, in which fitting honors should be paid to the dead hero. Morris refused. He states that he (Morris) desired "a private and economical funeral."

He got it. The funeral was so private and economical that neither the tongue of repute, identifying the grave from generation to generation, nor the more unerring evidence of shaft or vault guides the footsteps of those who come so late, so late! to repair the neglect of a 100 years.

Had Gouverneur Morris, the American minister to France, don his duty at the time of Paul Jones' death, by giving him a respectable funeral and a modest tombstone, the people of this country would not now be taxed $35,000 to find the hero's grave.

Paul Jones was the first and the greatest sea captain who ever flew the Stars and Stripes from the masthead of a battleship, and "held the ocean lists against the world in mail."

Congress gives $35,000 to find the bones, and of course they will be found—not those of the original Jones, perhaps, but a good enough heap of bones for that amount of money.
